Google is here to rescue you from the exhaustion of tapping open a food-ordering app on your smartphone. The tech giant has added a new tool to its search engine that lets you order directly without having to actually open an app. Google has essentially imported the APIs of Seamless, Grubhub, Eat24, Delivery.com, BeyondMenu and MyPizza.com so that if the restaurant you're looking for is listed on any of those apps you won't actually have to open up the app to use it.
