The basic philosophy was of a relentless and open-minded search for every conceivable improvement. So whereas British Cycling and now Team Sky have particular pillows, sleeping positions, flavoured water and hygiene strategies among their many 'marginal gains', Hackney's City Academy introduced free porridge and breakfast clubs, lengthened library opening times, assigned behaviour mentors, banned slag words and tasked staff with actively going out on to the streets of east London to ensure all 1,020 pupils were in their homes within 20 minutes of school ending.

Most viruses are effective because they suppress a person's immune system, but according to Mina, the measles virus takes that to a whole new level. Scientists believe the measles virus causes what they refer to as "immune amnesia" — the virus not only suppresses the immune system, but the immune system forgets how to protect the body against diseases it already has seen before.

But this defeat goes beyond Labour's blood-letting. Mr Balls, whatever his faults, was the most talented economist in the House of Commons, and a politician of rare brio. In an arid world, he had more hinterland than most. Now he will have more time to spend with his cooking and piano practice. Politics will be the poorer for his loss.
